New Erismann collection “MY GARDEN”

Wallpapers to beat the winter blues

The current Botanical Affairs home styling trend has a number of facets. From the “Urban Jungle” to “Relaxed Nature”, we find a wide variety of natural scenes depicted in the interior worlds involved. Particularly as the days grow shorter and the end of winter seems a long way off, designs are needed that can brighten our mood. Such patterns make an especially good impression on flock wallpapers.

With its expressive flower and leaf designs, fresh colours and a dash of poetry, the My Garden wallpaper collection brings a breath of springtime into any room and drives away those winter blues. From lush flowery meadows, playful little birds to brightly-coloured butterflies and subtle leaf designs, the patterns will enhance your mood and bring nature into your home. For an attractive contrast to all that floral finery, consider a modern wave motif or a delicate graphic pattern, offering subtle progressions from one shade to another.

The refreshing colour spectrum used for the vivid designs covers a broad arc, from gentle creams, ecru and pearl grey, to vibrant shades of cherry red, lilac and sunny orange. This palette of colours will give bring a fresh new flavour to any room.
